

Character Map

Directions: Draw a large picture of the character. It can be as simple as a stick figure or something more complex. When you have completed your drawing, move on to the second page.

Head
What is this person thinking about his or her society?

Eyes What has this person seen? Mouth What is this person saying? Stomach What is this person worried about?		Ears What has this person heard? Heart What is this person feeling? What does he or she care about? Hands What action has this person taken?
--	---	--

Feet
Has this person changed? Where might this person be going in the future?

Directions: Using evidence from the various primary sources supplied, answer the questions.

Head: What is this person thinking about his or her society?

Eyes: What has this person seen?

Ears: What has this person heard?

Mouth: What is this person saying?

Heart: What is this person feeling? What does he or she care about?

Stomach: What is this person worried about?

Hands: What action has this person taken?

Feet: Has this person changed? Where might this person be going in the future?